INFRARED HEAT REFLECTIVE & WATERPROOF MEMBRANE

Cocoon Coatings provides an elastomeric solar heat reflective waterproof membrane that complies with Australian Insulation Standards AS/NZS 4859:1.

It has been independently tested and the only coating in Australia to be awarded CodeMark Certification under the Building Codes of Australia, Section J Energy Efficiency.

ENERGY REDUCTION

Every roof substrate is rated for their Solar Reflectivity Index (SRI) value. Our membrane has a certified (SRI) value that when applied new or existing roof will reduce internal temperature considerably.

This allows us to calculate the energy savings on an established building, or in the case of a new building the reduction of capital equipment.

The heat load has been reduced internally by 5-8°C and has been so successful that additional roofing around the facility has also been treated."
